GREEK MEETS GREEK,

A controversy, anything but mutually complimentary in its nature, has lately sprung up between two well-known characters—the notorious Parson Brownlow, and the renowned George D Prentice. To judge from the following article in a recent number of the Louisville Journal, this fierce war of words has now attained a deeidedly personal character. Speaking of his Tennessee opponent the

"No other State was ever afflicted and disgraced with such an unmitigated and unmitigable, such an unre-deemed and unredeemable blackguard as her Chief Magistrate. He is a parody, a caricature, a broad bur-lesque on all possible governors.— They say there is fire in him, but it is bell firs, every particle of it.— Though he is but a single swine there ore as many devils in him as there were in the whole herd that "ran violently down a steep place into the sea." His heart is nothing but a hiss-ing knot of vipers, rattlesnakes, cobra and cotton mouths. He never argued a question in his life, approaching no subject but with fierce, bitter, coarse, low and vulgar objurgations. His tongue should be bored through and through with his own steel pen, heated

We are rather afraid that the Par son has, in this case, met with some thing more than his match. It was certainly an evil hour when he provoked the wrath of the Kentucky champion. What, for instance could be so untimely and unpleasant for the redoubtable defender of "the fieg we love," the very archetype of the "the Southern Union man," the superloyal and consistent Governor of Tennessee, than to have a paper resurrect such an awkward letter as the subjoined, which was written by one "Brownlow," exactly six years ago, to the Rev. Mr. Pryne?

"Face to face, knife to knife, steel to steel, and pike to pike we would meet you, and as we would cause you to bleed at every pore, we would make you regret in the bitter agonies of death, that you had ever felt any conconcern for the African race.

Sir, if the fanatical, wicked, and in fernal course pursued by you and your unprincipled associates is continued, the result will be as I have said and you and your children will live to see it. Pale-faced poverty and dismay are staring some of your man-ufacturers and operatives in the face. We are sending our orders to England and France for goods, and driving your hell-deserving freedom shrickers into the holding of Union meetings, and making these against their wills curse all agitators of the slavery question, and resolve that John Brown and his murderous associates got only justice when hung at Charlestown !-Carry on your war if you choose death rather than life, and we will stain every swamp in the South with yours and our own blood, and with the vengeance of an infuriated foe we will be upon you in the North, at the LOW hour of midnight, and as long as a lucifer match can be found we will burn up your substance."- Free Press.

The Treasures of the Sea.

The (Eng.) Western Morning Press of March 28th says: Upwards of eighty years ago, in the winter of 1784, a vessel bound from Spain was totally lost, with her entire crew, by being driven in a stormy on the rocks mense quantity of specie on board in Spanish pillar-dollars, and ever since after violent gales, dollars have been picked up in the neighborhood of the wreck. Two or three companies have been formed for recovering the bulk of the silver, which is known to lie deposite I within a very circumscribed vigorously pursued, and after a time were abandoned. One of these parties many years since, attempted to recover the treasure by means of sinking a shaft in the rock in shore, and driving an adit in its bottom seaward, to get under the spot where it was supposed the hull of the vossel lay imbedded in sand, shingle, etc.; but this was abandoned without result. Lately a company has been formed and they have decided on making another attempt. They have communicated with the Admirality, and received formal permission to prosecute the work, and this summer they hope to secure the long-coveted silver. Mr. John Toy went last week with two men to the place, which, ever since the wreck, has borne the name of Dollar Cove, and the tide being low, they proceeded to clear up the month of the old shaft. It was filled in to a depth of about six feet with large boulders and shingle, and they had not worked long before they picked up eight dollars. Two or three were brightly scoured by sand, while others have sand so firmly attached to them that it will be difficult to separate the coins from it. Some bear the dates of 1782 and 1783, and others are older, while the dates on some are quite illegible. The presumption is that this winter these have been all thrown up, with probably thousands of others which did not find their way into the little opening of the shaft. While Mr. Toy was engaged in his clearing operation, a boy, who has picked up some dollars since Christmas last, was on the rocks, and saw a dollar thrown up by a wave, but before he could reach the rocks a receding wave washed it out again.— After heavy weather from the south and west, dollars are often found on the beach and rocks; very likely a box or package which contained a portion is disturbed an knocked to pieces, and its contents scattered about This shaft is about five hundred yards west of Gunwalloe Church, from which it is separated by a towns and ledge of rocks. Apart from the financial success of the speculation, the progress of the new company will be watched with interest.

"Have you soon my black faced autologo?" inquired the keeper of a memagerie, slightly mispronouncing the name of the animal. "No," said a visitor. "Who did your black faced nunt clope with?"

The Rochester Union says: "The quantity of spirits smuggled into the country from Cauada is enormous, probably one-third of all that is con-
